Gard John

Peter,

On behalf of Alberta, I have met a bunch of times with a woman who has a plan in place to open up a new independent charter school on the southeast side of Madison. She wants it to be a K-12 that initially draws 500 kids from Madison, Verona, Fitchburg and Middleton (and eventually caps it at 1,400). She has a wonderful business plan in place, has secured some heavy hitting business leaders to advocate for it, has apparently gotten millions in promised private investment for the purchase of a building, and she's aligned herself with a legitimate school sponsor (The International Academy Campus System).

Sadly, I don't think it has a snowball's chance in hell of happening because Republicans won't endorse sending millions of dollars in public school funds (500 kids x $7K per charter student = $3.5 million) directed to one Madison-based school. Democrats won't like it because it'll lower existing enrollment levels for local districts and be non-union.

I told the lady we're working with that the Racine proposal took six months of intense back-and-forth wrangling between the parties to come to fruition, and that her proposal would be lucky to get out of committee.

This is what we'd like to see:

- Allows just the UW-Madison to sponsor one 2R charter school (so it lines up with the same rules and requirements that are in place for UW-Parkside and Racine's 2R charter school)
- No enrollment limit, unlike Racine's 21st Century Prep, which I believe is capped at 400.
- The school's creation should occur starting in the 2006-07 school year.
- Incorporate the changes to the 2R charter funding formula that JFC and the Legislature included. (If you aren't sure what we did, I can get you the necessary info)

I've attached a letter she sent to Gard during the budget process, asking him to include her school in the GOP proposal. It might serve as useful background info.

Thanks Peter.

Speaker John Gard
89th Assembly District - Republican
Room 211 West
State Capitol
Post Office Box 8952
Madison, Wisconsin 53708

RE: The International Academy Campus System, LLC ("The International Academy") proposes the establishment of The International Academy: Madison Campus ("Madison Campus") as an Amendment to the Current Budget Bill

Dear Speaker Gard:

We would like to ask for your support and for you to add as an amendment to the current budget bill The International Academy: Madison Campus ("Madison Campus") "pilot" charter school and propose The University of Wisconsin System as our sponsor. The school would open with 500 students from Dane County, K through 8 in the 2006-07 school year, with the ability to add up to 1400 students in the 2007-08 school year.

The Madison Campus will offer a choice for Dane County's expanding student population to experience The International Academy's rigorous academic curriculum (the old fashioned way), add the University component for enhanced curriculum, add business alliances with local corporations with internships for our students to gain necessary street smarts, and add a strategic alliance with international schools to allow them to learn to compete in a global marketplace. Timing on this is critical. We need to establish the Madison Campus as a model to show and tell other schools, currently "in need of education systems" or in want of the same (new charter choice and one that will succeed), what The International Academy will provide for their schools in Chicago, or Cleveland, or Los Angeles. We believe the legislative approval to open this pilot charter school for students in Dane County will have significant benefits for the state of Wisconsin both from an educational and from a business perspective. I have met with Secretary Marotta seeking The Administration's support. Secretary Marotta would like to discuss this proposed amendment further with you.

The International Academy Campus System is an education license system, not an education management organization or "EMO." The International Academy has a well-defined platform and System Standards provided through license agreements for each of its individual campuses. The campuses will be organized and directed by The International Academy to be underwritten by Standard & Poor's to work to obtain an investment grade rating as standard. The International Academy will assist its campuses to apply for credit enhancement and facility grants with the Office of Innovation and Improvement. Each campus will be held to strict compliance of the license agreement which will ensure academic and financial performance, accountability and transparency of its operations to its sponsor, its community and The International Academy. The five states targeted to begin pilot programs in are: Wisconsin, North Carolina, Colorado, California and Washington. We have selected these states as we have close business contacts that are committed to education, are highly motivated and have great confidence in our plan.

Please find enclosed the DRAFT prospectus for our charter school system. We continue to incorporate the revisions made by education and business experts on a near-daily basis. We are confident the Madison Campus will contribute to Wisconsin's economic improvement efforts by producing the kinds of knowledge-based workers that are essential to Wisconsin's economic success. Furthermore, we believe The International Academy has the potential to become a national and international model that other schools will utilize to produce a larger supply of knowledge-based workers. Producing these knowledge-based workers will require a strong team that will create new jobs, and increasing numbers of jobs as the system grows and an expanded tax base for the state. The International Academy will promote the U.W. System's growth by nurturing our "home grown" students to be highly motivated and well-equipped to stay at home to continue their post secondary education at the University of Wisconsin System.

The International Academy will strategically extend an international marketing network to secure an expanded international clientele relocating to a safe, academically superior university system (an easy sell). We will align with local businesses for internships to provide practical experience and to create an extension of community support. We know that The International Academy has the opportunity to be a great new business based in Wisconsin that will produce significant long term economic and social benefits for the state of Wisconsin. We hope you will agree and help us make this happen.

We urge you to amend this year's budget bill to provide for the inclusion of the Madison Campus. We have the support of many local, national and international business and education experts and need your help to proceed. We want to establish the Madison Campus as the model campus with a strong alliance with the U.W. System to enable The International Academy to announce Madison, Wisconsin as its corporate home.

I have included the primary reference documents for the DRAFT prospectus, a bio for Herbert Walberg, who in 2004 was nominated by George W. Bush as a founding member of the National Board of Education Sciences, which oversees education research supported by the U.S. Department of Education (a design team member who has written letters of recommendation for The International Academy to both Governor Doyle and President Reilly), the Wisconsin statute as it applies to charter schools and pending bills and our agenda for meeting with you at your convenience. Please accept Thomas L. Friedman's book, The World is Flat, Paul E. Peterson's, Our Schools and Our Future...Are We Still At Risk? and my favorite Economist Pocket World in Figures as a small token of our appreciation for your help.

Thank you for your consideration. Please feel free to email me at melissa@pancap.biz or call me anytime with any questions or comments. I can be reached at 575-5700. I look forward to meeting you. Thank you.

Best personal regards,

Melissa E. Wee

Subject: RE: request for bill draft

The way the budget bill funding works is this. The school district in which the (2r) charter school is located counts the charter school's pupils in the school district's enrollment. That school district also gets to include in its shared cost an amount equal to the number of those kids multiplied by the amount paid by the state to the charter school for each pupil. Then that school district's state aid is reduced by its proportional share of the number of kids attending (2) charter schools statewide multiplied by the total amount paid by the state for (2r) kids.

If you want, we could change the formula so the school district of residence counts the kids, instead of the school district in which the charter school is located. Then we could increase that school district's shared cost and then reduce that school district's aid. I'm not sure if that method would make sense, though. I suggest that you talk to Russ Kava in the LFB about it. He might be able to suggest another way to deal with the problem.

On second thought, couldn't we just interpret the law change we just passed (assuming Doyle doesn't veto it) a different way? Say 100 kids come from Madison, 50 from Verona and 50 from Middleton. Couldn't each one of those districts "claim" the kids, get the money from the state for the kids, then each send out the $7,111 charter payment to the one school?

Tom, I was looking today at the (2r) charter school funding mechanism incorporated in the budget bill, as passed by the legislature. It works for Milwaukee and Racine, but I don't think it will work for the new charter school sponsored by the UW-Madison unless we require that the new charter school be located in the Madison Metropolitan School District and that only pupils who reside in MMSD may attend. From Melissa Wee's letter, it looks like she would want any resident of Dane County to be eligible to attend.

Tom, do you want to specify where the school must be located? For example, in MMSD, in the city of Madison, in Dane County?

Currently, only pupils who reside in the school district in which a (2r) charter school is located may attend the school. Do you want to change that for this school to pupils who live in Dane County?

Finally, the Racine charter school is limited to high school grades. Do you want the same limitation here?

Dave at LFB advised me /you to do three things with the draft.

1) use current law as it relates to how the one, new independent charter school would be funded. Forget about the budget bill efforts and write it to reflect the fact that the cost of the students would come from the big pot of school aids.

2) try to use the Racine 21st Century Prep statutory language as much as possible. One building, 400 student cap beginning with the school's start in the 2007-08 school year (so the statutory change to approve the school is created now, but state funding help doesn't come until the 07-09 budget is passed) Increase the cap on the school enrollment to 800 students in 2008-09 and 1,200 students in 2009-10.

3) sponsored by UW-Madison, not UW-System, with business plan and curriculum approval needing to come from the BOR.

If you need anything else from me to get a draft ready for tomorrow morning, please let me know. Sorry about the quick trigger now. I didn't know jack squat about this meeting tomorrow until about an hour ago. Sen. Darling assumed I had had the bill drafted already. If it can't happen, just let me know and I'll fart out a memo or something that reflects what we're trying to do.

Thanks.....again

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, school boards may enter into contracts with individuals, groups, businesses, or governmental bodies to establish charter schools, which operate with fewer constraints than traditional public schools. Current law also permits the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, the University of Wisconsin-Parkside, the Milwaukee Area Technical College, and the city of Milwaukee to operate charter schools (independent charter schools) directly or to contract for the operation of charter schools. Only pupils who reside in the school district in which an independent charter school is located may attend the charter school. (en)

Peter,

Thank you for expediting this draft last week. Having the LRB in front of us at that meeting made a huge difference.

There is one small change though: Please change the language on the enrollment cap to reflect a cap of 500 student cap the first year and 1,400 in the second and thereafter.

We'll introduce /2 probably next week.

Thanks again.

2005 BILL

1 AN ACT ^{Regen} to amend 118.40 (2r) (b) 2., 118.40 (2r) (bm) and 118.40 (2r) (c) 1.; and
2 to create 118.40 (2r) (b) 1. e., 118.40 (2r) (c) 4. and 118.40 (2r) (cr) of the statutes;
3 relating to: authorizing the University of Wisconsin ^{System} ~~Madison~~ to establish or 4 contract for the establishment of a charter school.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, school boards may enter into contracts with individuals, groups, businesses, or governmental bodies to establish charter schools, which operate with fewer constraints than traditional public schools. Current law also permits the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, the University of Wisconsin-Parkside, the Milwaukee Area Technical College, and the city of Milwaukee to operate charter schools (independent charter schools) directly or to contract for the operation of charter schools. Only pupils who reside in the school district in which an independent charter school is located may attend the charter school.

This bill allows the ^{president of the} University of Wisconsin ^{System} ~~Madison~~ to operate or to contract for the operation of a charter school with the approval of the Board of Regents. The charter school must be located in Dane County and may accept any pupil who resides in Dane County. The school may accommodate up to 400 pupils in its first school year (which may be no sooner than 2007-08), up to 800 pupils in its second school year, and up to 1,200 pupils thereafter.
